HOOSIAC TUNNEL FLIES ACROSS BLOCKED BY GREAT LAKES WRECK

Will Be Days Before Long Under Mine, Nearly Dies on Ice of Exposure

DEBRIS BURNING FIERCELY

Heat Cracks Walls, Causing Rock to Fall—Passengers Are Nearly Suffocated

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Feb. 20.—Four trainmen are dead and the famous Hoosiac tunnel is so effectively blocked that it may be several days before the track can be cleared for the use of a road-rail collision between the freight train and Boston-bound express on the Boston and Maine railroad late today.

The passenger train was not seriously damaged, with the exception of the electric engine, which was drawing in at several cars of the freight when it crashed and the wreckage took fire. The heat in the portal was so great that portions of the tunnel rock cracked off and fell to the tracks.

The dead: ARTHUR L. SIMMONDS, engineer of the electric engine; HENRY GREGG, assistant to Simmonds; LUTHER DAVIS, a fireman on the motor; REUBEN KEMP, flagman on the freight train.

The accident happened about 2:30 p.m. from the east portal of the tunnel. Brakes Probably Refused to Work.

The freight train went into the tunnel just before 4 o'clock and when near the further end of the four-mile shaft, was stopped for some reason. The engine failed to stop at the point where the freight train was stopped. The passenger train was following the freight train and was struck by it. The passenger train was derailed and the engine and several cars were wrecked. The freight train was also derailed and the engine and several cars were wrecked. The wreckage was burning fiercely and the heat was so great that the walls of the tunnel cracked and fell. The passengers were nearly suffocated by the heat and smoke.

Heat Causes Rocks to Fall. It was not until 7 o'clock, however, that the train finally emerged into the open air. Later the train was started for Boston, three hours late, over the Boston and Albany tracks.

Later tonight the wreckage was still burning fiercely, while tons of rock, loosened by the heat, had fallen on the tracks, blocking the passage so effectively that railroad men said it probably would be days before trains can operate through the tunnel. Owing to the heat and smoke, little headway had been made in clearing away the debris. Late tonight wreckers attempted to reach the burning debris. They got to within about 200 feet when a car of oil burst into flames. There were a number of heavy explosions and smoke denser than ever spread through the tunnel. The working crew with difficulty escaped from the tunnel.

DEMOCRATS AGREE TO PARCEL POST BILL

Plan General Domestic Rate of 12 Cents and Maximum Package of 11 Pounds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Democratic members of the house committee on postoffices and post roads have agreed to incorporate in a bill provisions for a general parcel post.

They also have agreed to a general domestic rate of 12 cents and a maximum package of 11 pounds. This is a new international parcel rate. It would also provide for a rural delivery post, the rate to be 5 cents one pound and 2 cents for each additional pound.

The provisions will be incorporated in the bill to be reported to the house next week. The decisions were reached after long consideration of the "Parcel Post Act" introduced by Representative Clegg, of Ohio, which would create a system of parcel post in which would prevail different rates.

It was reported tonight that some republican members of the committee would approve the recommendations of the bill would pass the senate. Members of the committee, however, expect to encounter some objection.

On the ground that new legislation is proposed in an appropriation bill. They are now discussing how to get around these objections under the rule. Secretary of Agriculture today sent to Congress an estimate of the postmaster general's estimate of the operating expenses of the post office for the next fiscal year. In addition to the unexpended $200,000 appropriations last year.

YOUTHFUL AVIATOR IS WRECKED RETURNING

of Erie, Pa., Buried Under Mine, Nearly Dies on Ice of Exposure

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 20.—A youthful aviator, who was returning from a flight over the Great Lakes, was wrecked and buried under a mine, nearly dying on ice of exposure.

When he was rescued he was nearly saturated with blood from his wounds. He was taken to the Erie hospital and is now recovering from his injuries.

Alfred J. a booklet company, said he walked to miles to the American shore, landing at Northeast at 10 p.m. He was found staggering on the shore by boys who were skating and later carried to a boat. When there was telephone to his father.

Sand is not injured seriously. He was brought here from Northeast at midnight in a special car. Thousands of persons at a great time and had blasts from their whistles greeted him.

Speaking of his trip, Sand said: "I made the trip over the Canadian shore at 10:30 o'clock. I got along fine for about 10 minutes, and then my engine began to rattle. A minute later it stopped. I was 2000 feet in the air at the time, and started to slide toward the ice below me. I remember striking the ice and then that everything was a blank."

"When I came to, I was on the wreckage and found the wreckage was hopelessly broken. I had my pocket compass and with it started toward the shore. I walked for about three hours before I saw lights. I thought at first that it was Erie, but in a minute I realized that it was not, and that I was lost. I was so weak I could not move another foot."

"Then I cried for help. It was no last effort. I could hardly speak, and I guess if those boys hadn't heard me I should have died."

BERNDT IS WARNED TO LEAVE COUNTY; REFUSES

Police instructions were given Charles Berndt as to his rights to protect his person and property, before he returned to his home near Yoder yesterday, following his complaint to M. W. Purcell, assistant district attorney, that he had been warned to leave the county within 30 days. Berndt is the man whose assault on his wife indirectly resulted in her death a few months ago.

The warning was left at the gate of Berndt's home the night of February 15, in a tin bucket. It read: "Warning to the wife murderer. You are notified to leave this country within 30 days. The public don't want you here. Now go. PUBLIC SENTIMENT."

The usual shut and crossbones sign was appended to the white paper on which the warning was printed. Inference is drawn that his death is threatened from the fact that the game of night riders who left the note fired a volley of shots in the air and set fire to Berndt's gate post.

Berndt Will Remain.

But Berndt is not going to leave the county. Acting on the suggestion of Mr. Purcell and Sheriff George Birdall, he is going to return to his claim, 30 miles east of Colorado Springs, and take care of his motherless children.

"He knows what he has a right to do if they pay him a second visit," Sheriff Birdall said last night, referring to Berndt. "Not only can he protect his life and home against such invasions, but he has been told to find out who the persons are."

Assistant District Attorney Purcell says that Berndt will be issued if he can find out the names of the persons who threatened Berndt. He has asked Berndt to investigate the case. Sheriff Birdall says he is ready to visit the Yoder neighborhood at a moment's notice.

"He was tried on the only charge that could be brought against him," Mr. Purcell said. "The only plea for mercy he made was when he asked for a chance to take care of his children. The jury, instead of finding him guilty of manslaughter, said he was guilty of assault, and he was fined $100. He has paid the penalty and has a right to the full protection of the law."

THE OLD AND THE NEW

Few of Dynamite Defendants Will Protest Removal

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 20.—District Attorney Charles W. Miller received telegrams from many cities today to the effect that most of the 24 labor union officials and business men indicted in the dynamite case would come to Indianapolis for arraignment here on March 12 without protest.

Henry W. Leggett, of Denver, a former member of the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, arrived today and was released on bond. In the 22 indictments, he is charged with abetting the McNamara and Grip E. McManis in violating the federal law prohibiting the carrying of dynamite and nitroglycerine on passenger trains. He also is charged with appearing at the team workers headquarters here at one time with a duty as the receiving ship at the San Francisco naval training station, was sold today for $12,025 to Henry J. Rogers of San Francisco. The vessel was built at Pensacola, Fla., in 1862.

Leggett, who declined to comment on his case, conferred later with Frank M. Ryan, president of the Iron Workers union, and with counsel concerning the plans for defense.

That the government is ready to proceed with the trials was indicated by Mr. Miller.

"We could go right on with the trials immediately after the men are arraigned," he said. "So much evidence has been collected and put in shape that it will require no more preparation on our part. The questions whether the defendants are to be tried individually, singly or in groups, lies in the discretion of the court and not with the defendants. It is hardly likely much delay will be allowed between arraignment and the opening of the trials."

A Reasonable Plea For the Stomach

If Your Stomach Is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work?

Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try.

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, hydrochloric acid, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements in exact proportion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestine supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural ingredients.

Chemical Laboratory, Telegraphic address, "Duffing," London, Telephone No. 11029, Central 20, Cullum St., Fenchurch St. E. C.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose) and find that they are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, flatulency, loss of appetite, morbid humor, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from impure digestion and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the active principle in these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 5,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Ask your druggist for a fifty-cent box, or send to us direct for a free trial sample package and you will be surprised at the result. P. A. Stuart & Co., 110 Stuart Bldg., New York.

With Abe Attell defending his opponent for the first effort in his comeback campaign, Frank Mantell has been whipped by practically every middleweight of class and has graduated to the short and crop of fighters who are ready to take a beating for $25 or $50. Tom Jones, who is again handling Papke, picked this opponent carefully. Jones would like to see Papke regain his former position and to that end he purposes to nurse him along carefully. Papke's loss of form following erratic performance in Australia were quite marked. In his engagement, a 12-round affair, against Bob Mohr at Boston last October, the Milwaukee boy easily secured the decision. Even giving Mohr credit for being a tough customer, this bout of Papke's contest against such a long in a 10-round no-decision affair at New York two months before convinced Papke as well as his friends that something was amiss.

There was the actual retirement from the ring talk but Papke finally decided to take a good rest and then return to the game. The Mantell match is the result. Papke still should be in his prime as a boxer, and Papke in his prime should appear a safe person for ambitious boxers to avoid.

The bout between Klammer and Petrovsky should result in a victory for Klammer. Petrovsky is just breaking into the middleweight ranks and has done nothing as yet to warrant comparison with such a class fighter as Klammer. Speaking of middleweights recalls to mind the fact that Hugo Kelly will also start a comeback campaign. This week Hugo is booked to box that jockey scrapper, George Knickerbocker Brown of Chicago, the contest being slated for Kenosha, Wis. tonight.

Kilbane is coming, it may be noted, while Attell, in the natural course of events, must be retraining. Recent contests in which Attell figured give color to the belief that the champion is slipping, but as the Attell reputation for boxing under a pull when there is a purpose in view is notorious, shrewd judges of ring form do not take much stock in the indifferent fights that he may have made. Many critics believe Attell has played his string out, but they will not feel certain until they see how he conducts himself in a long engagement with a rugged, skillful boy.

Deiving into ring lore a bit it will be recalled that on one bright October night, two years ago, Attell took on this same young Kilbane in a 10-round fight in Kansas City, and it was close, but Abe could not catch Kilbane and was not all worried. This still lingers in the memory of those who watched that engagement. Not that Attell hurt him, that is not the Attell style.

Of course, that was two years ago. It is a different Kilbane that Attell will face this week. With added experience and a constant outpouring of victories to give him confidence Johnny will not be the nervous, scared lad that he was that October night in Kansas City when he met the old master. This time it will be a ripping, tearing, crafty young fellow that will face Abe.

Can Attell stand a terrific pace for 20 rounds? Kilbane thinks not. Abe has not traveled a long route since 1910 when he won 15 rounds to a draw with Frankie Kelly at New Orleans. Most of the Jay warrior's fights have been short distance affairs, of the six and 10-round variety. Then, too, Attell's maulers are admittedly not in the best shape and if they bother him he will not be able to put all his strength in his punches.

Attell is confident, personified, however, in a statement the other day he said that he intended to put away Kilbane inside of the limit just to prove to his critics that he is not on the wobbly and headed for oblivion, as has been claimed. As evidence of his confidence Attell has signed to meet Harlem Tommy Murphy in a 20-round contest the first week in March.

Billy Papke has selected a mediocre opponent for the first effort in his comeback campaign. Frank Mantell has been whipped by practically every middleweight of class and has graduated to the short and crop of fighters who are ready to take a beating for $25 or $50. Tom Jones, who is again handling Papke, picked this opponent carefully. Jones would like to see Papke regain his former position and to that end he purposes to nurse him along carefully. DECISION IS GIVEN MANDOT OVER MOORE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20.—Joe Mandot of this city was given an unanimous newspaper decision in a 10-round fight here this afternoon with Pat Moore of Philadelphia. Mandot was forced to extend himself in the last round to win, Moore having showed up after a fast start in the ninth. Both were under 135 pounds.

It was a fast and furious exchange from the second round to the finish. Moore was awarded the third round by a wide margin, jabbing stiff lefts to the face and stomach and overpowering with stinging rights that rocked Mandot's head.

Mandot came back strongly in the fourth, clipping Moore in the face and nose and raising a large bump over his left eye, which was almost closed at the end of the fight.

Moore caught Mandot on the jaw twice in the fifth with swinging back-hand blows that were staggering. Both mixed swings and fell just before the sixth. Mandot rushed Moore on the sixth, boring into the stomach.

In the seventh Moore came back strong with terrific body blows and a left to the jaw. Moore jabbed Mandot eight times in the stomach in the eighth without a return, getting the round by a wide margin.

Both bored in at the beginning of the ninth. They exchanged hard swings to the face and jaw and kept fighting at the bell until separated several seconds later.

The tenth brought them together in a clinch. Mandot breaking away, hit Moore in the stomach and face repeatedly without a return. Mandot was in much the better condition at the end of the fight.
